About me

Currently underemployed due to war in the country. I enjoy waking up and going to my job early in the morning. I am hyperactive in my daily job routine. The best schedule would be to have Saturday and Sunday off.

My previous employers struggle keeping me busy enough and I think I could do more work and get a better pay. I decided to look for a position of a light vehicle driver in an English speaking company like ICRC or UN, etc.

My salary expectations are as high as the cost of the best available instruments that I would like to purchase and use to provide excellent quality of my work.
