During my time there, I collaborated with a team of developers and designers to build user-friendly and responsive web applications for our clients.

I had the opportunity to work with a medical service as a front-end developer, where I collaborated with a team to create a user-friendly web application for patients.

My main responsibilities included developing and maintaining the web application, ensuring that it was responsive and optimized for performance, and creating intuitive user interfaces.

I also had the opportunity to work on a hotel booking system as a front-end developer. This project involved collaborating with a team of developers and designers to create a userfriendly web application that allowed users to easily book hotels online.
