Описание вакансии

Interested in Augmented Reality? Do you want to be part of a team that is changing the way the world interacts with mobile devices? We are pioneering the next wave of technology — reimagining the way the world interacts with technology today. Our mission is to bring the digital and physical worlds together.

As a software engineer on the team, you'll make major contributions to a rapidly evolving feature using cutting edge technology. Learning from some of the most knowledgeable computer vision specialists and experienced engineers in the space, you will tackle new challenges across many areas of software engineering. As a Software Engineer you'll work on a broad set of problems, potentially including mobile infrastructure, mobile interfaces, algorithms, machine learning, computer vision, graphics, code optimization, web programming, and cloud infrastructure. We are looking for experienced, production focused engineers who want to develop highly reliable products in a collaborative fast-paced environment.
