Опис вакансії

DataArt's specialists are helping to develop a data platform for the IoT industry. This platform consists of a data broker and a number of modules integrated into it. When the platform receives data from a device, it processes and transfers it in real time while making necessary operations, such as saving, visualizing etc.

We explored the platform's features and integrated it into open source tools (Informatica, Elasticsearch, Pentaho etc.). Now our job is to create tools for working with the platform. This is why DataArt is searching for a Python developer to join the team.

Required Skills and Experience:

- Excellent knowledge of Python;
- Experience developing distributed applications;
- Knowledge of microservice architecture;
