Help shape the future of game dev productivity with UnitAI.net

About UnitAI

UnitAI.net is an AI assistant built natively for Unity developers. We turn painful, repetitive tasks — like finding scripts in scenes or writing boilerplate — into instant, intelligent actions. With support for Ollama local models, visual file explorers, and code-editing prompts directly inside Unity, we're redefining how developers interact with their tools.

We're growing fast and looking for a Developer Advocate who loves building with Unity, speaks the language of devs, and wants to help others get more out of their day with AI.

? What You'll Do

- Be the voice of the developer: gather feedback, share insights, and help shape the product roadmap.
- Create high-quality tutorials, demos, livestreams, and blog posts showing off UnitAI's capabilities.
- Engage with the Unity dev community on Discord, Twitter/X, Reddit, forums, and events.
- Collaborate with the dev team to translate user needs into features — and celebrate what we ship.
- Help onboard new users with documentation, onboarding flows, and example projects.

? You Might Be a Fit If You…

- Are fluent in Unity and C# workflows, and love teaching others how to build smarter.
- Are excited about AI tools like Ollama, GPTs, and how they can fit into real-world dev pipelines.
- Enjoy content creation (YouTube, TikTok, X, blogs) or are eager to start.
- Have a public voice or want to build one as a respected advocate in the game dev space.
- Want to join a tight, fast-moving team building real tools, not hype.

? What We Offer

- Remote-friendly with async flexibility
- Direct impact on a rapidly growing product
- Early-stage equity/options
- A small, focused team that listens and ships fast

? How to Apply

Send a short note or video showing something you've built, written, or recorded — or just share why you're excited about AI + Unity. Bonus if you include feedback on UnitAI or ideas you'd want to try!
